

www.marmacs.org

40th Middle Atlantic Regional Meeting

May 17 - 21, 2008

Queensborough Community College of the City University of New York, Bayside, NY 11364

Chemical Education Programming

The New York Section of the American Chemical Society invites you to the 40th MARM at Queensborough Community College in Bayside, NY from May 17 to 21, 2008. The organizers of MARM 2008 have created a diverse weekend Chemical Education program that is sure to interest teachers, researchers, and students from all backgrounds.

Saturday, May 17 includes the 56th NY-ACS Undergraduate Research Symposium, regional Chemagination competition, and ACS Student Affiliates activities. In addition, a free one-day introductory workshop on Process Oriented Guided-Inquiry Learning (POGIL) will be facilitated by David Hanson and Troy Wolfskill of Stony Brook University. For more information on this NSF-supported event, visit www.pogil.org.

Sunday, May 18 offers hands-on probe-ware workshops and the NY Section Nichols Teacher Forum which features recent recipients of this prestigious local section award. Two Chemical Education sessions focus on innovative curriculum materials and instructional strategies that engage students in learning and promote the development of critical learning process skills. Scheduled speakers include

AM Session

Candice Foley and Sharada Sambasivan, Suffolk County Community College

Harry Gafney, Queens College

David Hanson, Stony Brook University

Madhumanti Mahalingam, University of the Sciences in Philadelphia

David Parkin, Adelphi University

Sabrina G. Sobel, Hofstra University

Troy Wolfskill, Stony Brook University

PM Session

Anthony Carpi, John Jay College

Fernando Espinoza, SUNY Old Westbury

Gail Horowitz, Yeshiva University

Trace Jordan, New York University

Joseph W. Lauher and Frank W. Fowler, Stony Brook University

Elise Megehee, St John's University

Karen E.S. Phillips, Hunter College

Lance Silverman, Yeshiva University

Technical symposia in all fields, exciting plenary lectures, career enrichment and professional development activities, social events, and awards make this a MARM to remember! Submission of abstracts for oral and poster presentations is encouraged and is available online at www.marmacs.org. Please check the website regularly for updates. Pre-college educators are offered significantly discounted registration fees.

Chemical Education programming at MARM 2008 is generously supported by the ACS Division of Chemical Education.

